District Cites Grove Kiwanian

Kenneth J. Conrad, past president of the Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club and Past District Lieutenant Governor, has been named "Distinguished Governor' for' his work in Division 11 in the 1971-72 Kiwanis year.

Each year six of the 42 lieutenant governors in the California-Navada-Hawaii district are so honored. The presentation was made at the group's annual convention which was held this year in San Diego. It is the only time the award was made to a San Diegan.

To qualify, the recipient must have maintained or increased the membership of existing clubs during his regime. He must have built at least one new club in the division and must have made at least three visits to each of the clubs in his district.

To qualify he must attend all conventions and board meetings during the year and have representation by each club at the district and international conventions. The new club in his division is the Centre City Kiwanis club in downtown San Diego.

Conrad, a mortician, lives at 7387 Broadway in Lemon Grove.

The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Anxious Reader:

I suppose no one will tell Mr. Nixon he can get the same rate on deflation by reducing "printing press" money production ten per cent as he can by slapping a ten per cent income tax surcharge on the working man.

The reason, since you asked, is the same reason no one alerted him to the idiocy that led to Watergate.

Certainly, you may send him this clipping.

Animal Shelter is Busy Place

Too many people think of the animal shelter as the place where they execute our pet cats, dogs and horses.

And let's face it, some animals have to be put to sleep.

But the logical mind realizes that it is a humanoid that causes the animal to be there. The animal has been mistreated by humans, kicked out because he is sick or unwanted, or he just wandered away.

But there's another side of the coin. There's an agency that cares. It is the non-profit County Humane Society animal shelter on Sherman st., in San Diego.

The other day a work log of the shelter was obtained from Shelter Officers Sgts. William E. Griffin and James Baker. The log gives an adequate picture of a recent day of the operation of the facility.

Here is the log on a single day:

0730 — Sick dolphin washed ashore at Imperial Beach. Officer dispatched to the scene.

0800 — 101 miscellaneous animals reported without food or water on Willow rd., El Cajon. Officer dispatched. Officer radios for help.

1000 — The 0730 dolphin was dead upon arrival at Sea World. Officers time: 2½ hours.

1030 — Horse owner called to claim a lost horse. Sheriff had reported horse loose two nights previously. Owner had reported to Sheriff the horse was stolen.

1200 — Officer dispatched to investigate report that 12 animals had been abandoned on private property in Spring Valley.

1230 — Two officers arrived with 101 miscellaneous animals from El Cajon. These included ducks, goats, chickens and rabbits. Two officers spent 12 man hours sorting, watering, caging and feeding the animals and writing reports.

1245 — A second sick dolphin was reported on the beach at Imperial Beach. Two officers were dispatched to meet with a Sea World representative at the beach. Well-meaning spectators thwarted the rescue by shoving the dolphin back into the water just as the rescue unit arrived. Time: 2½ hours.

1315 — Stray-horse owner arrived to identify animal and to berate officers for having picked up the horse in the middle of the night and transporting it to the animal shelter instead of to the home of the owner. Owner was unable to explain why it had taken him two days to discover the horse was missing.

1430 — Officers arrives with 12 animals from Spring Valley call with goat, chickens, ducks and rabbits. It took three hours to care for and cage the animals and for subsequent paper work.

1500 — Department of Game and Fish asked aid in the rescue of a hawk caught in the brush. Officer was dispatched to back country but hawk freed itself before officer arrived. Two hours travel hime.

1530 — The sick dolphin is back on the beach in Imperial Beach. Officer was rerouted from the hawk assignment to aid dolphin but the dolphin was dead on arrival.

1630 — Owner reported that his dog had become caught under patio porch when the dog's chain became wrapped around house support. The frightened animal wouldn't let officer near and a second officer was dispatched to the home. Between the two, the dog was freed and returned to its grateful owner.

Meanwhile, back at the shelter during the day, business went on as usual. On the day of the above log, in addition to the activities listed therein, 32 dogs and 55 cats were brought in. Homes were found that day for 12 dogs and 2 cats.

The shelter is operated by the County Humane Society and the SPCA whose major interest is mistreated and abandoned animals. The groups are non-profit organizations and its officers have the backing of the law as they puruse their duties.

Loose running and unlicensed animals are the responsibility of the city and county pounds.

At the shelter, a healthy animal is kept until it becomes a certainty that the owner cannot be found after which he is put to sleep in a low-pressure chamber, a method which is said to be painless.

This run-down is presented in the interests of a better understanding of the operation of the organization that concerns itself with the mistreatment of animals.

Murder Attempt Charged Against S.V. Student

SAN DIEGO (CNA)—A 17-year old high school senior is being held in county jail charged with attempted murder and assault with a deadly weapon.

Richard John Zawacki, of 1815 Sweetwater rd., Spring Valley pleaded not guilty Sept. 13 in Superior Court. Records show that Zawacki is charged with an attack on Victor Sabastani, of San Diego, in Balboa Park about 2 a.m. on Aug. 2.

Police reports show that Zawacki pursued the victim and stabbed him in the back and he crawled to the roadway and was taken to Mercy hospital by a motorist. A witness gave Zawacki's license number to police and the suspect was arrested at his home at 6 a.m. the same day. He has been in custody since his arrest.

The "gold shovel" treatment occurred last Wednesday, with construction starting following the ceremony. The gateway, located at Kenwood dr. and Campo rd., is expected to be completeted next week, at a cost of about $3,000. The business association, which initiated the project, is also financing it.

Miller Reports On Beef In Grossmont Schools

As the result of a complaint filed by the parent of a Grossmont High School student, San Diego District Attorney Ed Miller's Fraud Division undertook an investigation of the food being served to students in the Grossmont School District.

"The complaint, basically, was the students were being given 'junk food' for school lunches," Miller said. "Our investigation disproved that allegation but did turn up some problem areas which concerned me personally."

In a letter to Roy Bean of 815 North Mollison, El Cajon, who brought the complaint, Miller wrote:

"It is true that the precooked beef patties served by the (Grossmont) District have less protein than regular ground beef. However, they are prepared under constant inspection by the U.S.D.A. and conform to the standard set forth by that Department. In the near future, regulations of the Federal Food and Drug Administration will require the labels of these products to set forth a listing of the protein content. Perhaps this will help school officials make better decisions about which product to purchase.

"While you may disagree with the school officials on the quality of food that should be served, this office was unable to find any evidence of conduct that would support a criminal charge."

However, Miller said, the investigation did disclose certain aspects of the Food Service Program in the Grossmont District which he believes warrant a review for District officials. In a letter to District Superintendent Dr. Austin R. Sellery, Miller wrote:

"The most salient fact is that these beef patties contain significantly less protein than fresh ground beef. A chemical analysis has revealed that the precooked beef patties average only about 17 per cent protein, whereas ground beef averages about 25 per cent for the same weight. (U.S.D.A. Home and Garden Bulletin No. 72, 1971, on the Nutritive Value of Foods.)

"According to Dr. Hartnell, San Diego Circuit Supervisor, Federal Meat and Poultry Inspection Office, the protein value for the processed beef patty is lower because a commercial grade of 'cow' beef is probably used rather than graded steer beef.

"It is important that you be aware of these comparative protein values so that appropriate nutritional standards can be maintained. If higher protein percentages are desired, certain things might be done. For instance, at the present time, it is my understanding that quotes are received from suppliers and purchases are made according to a cost factor that is set up by the cafeteria operating budget.

"Needless to say, it is axiomatic that the cheapest meals will be correspondingly less nutitious even though they are in conformity with U.S.-

Trustees Eye Appeal Of Kahan Case

The Grossmont Union High School District Board of Trustees Tuesday night voted to appeal a decision by the California Commission on Professional Competency that forced the district to re-hire Charles Kahan, the Helix High School teacher who was acquitted of marijuana smuggling charges.

Kahan, who was arrested while he and two men were in a pickup truck loaded with about 1,000 pounds of marijuana in Arizona, returned to his duties at Helix last week.

The board was told by John Willd, hearing officer with the Commission on Professional Competency, to rehire Kahan and also ordered the board to award him back pay for the time he was suspended.

Kahan, who was arrested while on sick leave from his English teaching post at Helix, was suspended before charges were dropped in Arizona when the prosecutors refused to name an alleged informant in the case.

After that occurrence, he was rehired and given back pay. When federal charges were brought against him later, he was again suspended. When he was acquitted due to a lack of evidence, the district refused to rehire him.

At Tuesday's meeting, the board directed Superintendent Austin Sellery to find a new assignment for Kahan where he would not be working with students. Trustees also told Sellery not to act on the back pay issue until after the appeal. Kahan is being paid for the work he is now performing, however.

New Members Reverse Broadway Corridor Plan

By John Nicholson

A stipulation that requires members to attend three out of five consecutive meetings failed to help the Lemon Grove Planning Association last Thursday evening, as new members reversed an earlier decision on the proposed Broadway corridor plan.

The plan was approved by the executive committee several weeks ago, calling for general suggested land uses, such as commercial, high density residential, entrance treatment, and parking areas.

The plan was to serve as a guideline for future zoning and was a delicate balance between what can be permitted in the county and the adopted goals of the association.

The planners made the mistake, however, of not making clear the purpose of the plan, which is a guideline only and is not a re-zone of property. The plan is only to suggest ideas of what the community wants along Broadway and is not even expected to be followed closely.

Since many residents did not understand the purpose of the plan, they felt it was a rezone of property along Broadway. So, many of those who own property, especially in and around areas designated as possible parking areas, were hopping mad and immediately came to the next few meetings.

Those members who worked on the plan were able to convince many of the excited people in attendance what the intent was, giving them relief from anxiety. Those who were convinced that their property would not be converted to a parking lot went quietly on their ways.

But several persons were not convinced and continued to attend meetings. Last week, enough had attended three meetings to be allowed to vote to reverse the plan, removing all parking designations from the plan. The vote was a close one, and had three more members been in attendance to vote in favor of the standing plan, all the work would not have been wasted.

As it stands, all the work on the Broadway corridor plan was for nothing, and more time in putting together a community plan has been wasted. With recent developments at the county level, with opponents of the community plan concept arguing that over $1.5 million dollars has been spent and only two community plans have been developed, time taken to develop a community plan is far more valuable.

In short, the planning association cannot afford to suffer setbacks in time if it hopes to be funded long enough to formulate a plan for Lemon Grove. Two and a half years have been spent already and a finished plan is still not in sight.

The next meeting of tthe association is Sept. 27 at 3 p.m.

Jill Timm Calendars Feature Male Nudes

It was just two years ago that Jill Timm received her degree from San Diego State University. Today, she heads up a firm that expects to sell 250,000 male nude calendars this year.

Miss Timm

Miss Timm is a 25 year-old graphic designer who operates her own graphic design firm, J. T. Graphics, in La Mesa, California. Her first male nude calendar, which she published "as an experiment," in late November of last year, was sold widely throughout San Diego, and by mail order the length of the West Coast. This year, she has produced three new calendars, with a national distribution targeted for later this month.

"I really produced that first calendar as kind of a lark," she said, adding that she thought that women would appreciate pictures of attractive men as much as men appreciate pictures of attractive women. Her first Calendar, Au Naturel, presented pictures of "natural men in natural settings," and was "artistic, tasteful, and discreet," she said.

"I really wanted to produce calendars that were worth having just for their artistic value, calendars that any woman would be proud to display," she said.

She chose natural outdoor settings for her pictures. Each picture portrays an idyllic setting, with her models in natural poses. "I call them my 'Sierra Club posters with people'," she said with a smile.

"The predominant feeling I tried to convey in Des Aments was love. The pictures try to portray the emotional relationship between two people," she said.

Bob Wilson Offers Scholarship Forms

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman Bob Wilson (D-La Mesa) has announced that his district office is making available to all interested students application forms for the 1973-74 State Scholarship Competition.

Wilson said, "Students often don't know about the various scholarships for which they may be able to compete. Even if they have heard about them, they may not know how to apply. Because of this, any interested students can receive application forms for the upcoming State Scholarship Competition, either by writing to my office at 164 W. Park avenue, El Cajon, California 92020, or by dropping by to pick one up."

BOARD HONORED — Members of the Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees were honored last week by the District Teachers Association at a breakfast at Lemon Grove Junior High. In photo, board member Warren Buckner enjoys a cup of coffee while school superintendent Bob Sutton, association member Mrs. Orla Brown, and association president Andy Webb make sure that he gets a good breakfast. About 175 people were in attendance.

It was almost that tough for Mr. and Mrs. Dennis G. Walsh, of 7592 Church st., Lemon Grove, but they finally became grandparents. Dennis is a carrier out of the Lemon Grove postal facility.

The accomplishment was the birth of Philip Darrel Walsh who was born to Robert and Julie Walsh at 10:36 p.m. September 6 at Grossmont hospital.

Park Chairman Decries County Planning Move

An Open Letter to Mr. Dick Brown, Supervisor District 3

Sir:

I herewith respectfully request that you change your formula for getting proper planning of property in San Diego County.

I am the immediate Past President of the Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce. We worked hard to get the Valle De Oro Planning Assoc. functioning. We paid for and sent out over 10,000 notices of meetings. We held meetings to promote planning. We wanted our area to be properly planned.

Now what has happened? I attended the meeting of the Valle De Oro Planning Assoc. last week where there were 41 people present—but only 23 "card-carrying" members. You have to raise your card to vote at the meetings. A number of others, including myself, strenuously objected to the "Approval of Goals" submitted at that meeting. But only the "card carrying" members counted. I have attended about 10 of those meetings of the Valle De Oro Planning Assoc.

On this Directors Board of the Valle De Oro Planning Assoc. are now only the "no-growth", "slow-growth" "ecologists," non-expert planners. They are the ones with a "cause" to stop progress. They have attended faithfully for 2 years. There was not one builder in the group—not one expert land planner in the group, not one subdivider in the group of 23 who voted in this "Goals."

Look what this group voted for:

1) Voted to allow only 10,000 new people in this area each 10 years for the next 20 years.
2) Voted to require all residential lots to be one (1) acre in size except for specific designated areas that could have one-third (⅓) acre lots.
3) Voted to discourage high density residential development.
4) Voted to "Discourage all tourist oriented business."

These mentioned above are only a small part of the "Planning Goals". You should read the entire document. It's something out of a dream world. It would stop or greatly slow progress and the creation of beauty in the Spring Valley area.

Herbert R. Ketell
Park Chairman,
Spring Valley
Parks & Recreation
Advisory Board.

Dr. Gigliotti to be Speaker At State Function in Rome

The Italian government and the Masonic Order of Italy will honor a Lemon Grove man September 29 at a State function in Rome.

The man is Dr. Frank Bruno Gigliotti, of 3785 Gigliotti drive, a retired Presbyterian minister and present vice chairman of the evangelical action committee of the National Association of Evangelists.

A series of unusual circumstances is making the trip possible for Dr. Gigliotti.

First, his health has not been perfect. Several years ago he lost his wife and he has been in and out of the hospital several times since then.

But before that, in 1960, he was awarded nine gold medals for writing the freedoms into the new Italian Constitution and for regaining for Italian Masons and the Italian Protestant church, more than $50 million in property that had been confiscated by the Mussolini regime.

He was made a Knight Commander of the Republic of Italy's Order of Merit for his efforts and he is now Sir Dr. Frank Gigliotti.

He accepted the awards at a ceremony in Rome, he said, where he is regarded as a great patriot.

This year, on the 104th anniversary of the Italian "Day of Unification", the government in Rome and the Supreme Council and the Grand Lodge of Italian had invited Dr. Gigliotti to be the honored speaker at a joint banquet to be given on September 20.

Because of his health and heavy medical expenses he had incurred during the illness and passing of his wife, he declined again. He didn't tell them that much of his income not used for the accrued medical bills were used to support many of Dr. Gigliotti's charities.

But somebody knew. A group connected with the National Association of Evangelicals got together $2,000 and sent it to Dr. Gigliotti with instructions for him to attend the ceremony in Rome. They also advised the people in Rome that he had the funds to make the trip. The Italians became insistent.

But Dr. Gigliotti was still reluctant. He couldn't leave his home and new family on a couple of days notice. He had recently married the former Jenny Lanza, a relative of Mario Lanza, the singer.

The government in Rome had a solution.

"We'll change the celebration to September 29 — and bring Mrs. Gigliotti with you," they said.

This was an earthshaking decision. It was as if American were told on July 1st that the 4th of July was to be celebrated on July 13, Dr. Gigliotti said.

So early next week the Gigliottis will leave for Rome where he will address a joint meeting of top Italian governmental officials and top officers of the Supreme Council and Grand Lodge of Italian Masons. And it will be on a date other than that which Italians have been celebrating for the past 103 years.

A fine tribute to a Lemon Grove man who has given so much of himself to those less fortunate than he.

Booster Club Hosts Coffee Fund Drive

The Mt. Miguel Booster club is beginning its fund drive for the Miguel Community Aquatic Center by having a diminishing coffee called "Marco-Polo".

Mrs. Gloria Connolly, ways and means chairman, is sponsoring a coffee at her home in Spring Valley.

She is inviting eight guests who will donate one dollar for the community pool and a promise to hold a coffee of their own within one week. They need only to invite seven guests. The next round of coffees will be for six and it will continue to diminish until the coffee will be for one guest only.

Mrs. Connolly has invited a P.T.A. representative from each of the area schools to play "Marco-Polo". She says they need to branch out in a wide area and out of the small communities of Lemon Grove-Spring Valley in order to make this a complete success.

The Miguel Community Aquatic Center formed a committee this summer and held their fund raising kick off at the Mt. Miguel "Animo" supper recently by placing tickets on sale for a 1974 Pinto runabout to be raffled off on Dec. 14.

The aquatic center is to be placed at Mt. Miguel but will serve as a public comunity pool.

Boys Sought For 'Space' Program

In a massive recruitment program, every third through sixth grade class in county elementary schools will be surveyed to find boys interested in joining the Cub Scouts and Boy Scout programs. There are openings in all of the 700 Cub Packs and Scout troops.

Robert Wolford, chairman of the "First in Space" drive, said the annual fall membership roundup will be conducted from September 15 through October 15. The names of new Scouts, along with those of current Scouts and their adult volunteer leaders, will be microfilmed and placed aboard a communications satellite named "Scout" that will be launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base early next year.

Wolford said filmed scrolls aboard the satellite will contain the names of more than 600,000 Scouts from the 10 Western states.

Young men first contacted in their classrooms will be invited to attend a Scout meeting with their parents, Wolford said. Candidates will be allowed to register after a thorough briefing and question-and-answer session.

The seven Scout districts in the San Diego Council coordinating the membership drive are Torrey Pines, Grossmont, Aequus, San Luis Rey, El Camino, Mission and Palomar. Wolford said anyone interested in additional information on the drive should contact the Scout headquarters in Balboa Park.

SV Artist Displays Ceramic Pieces At Cooperative Gallery

A three-man show is currently on exhibit at the Artists' Cooperative Gallery at 3731 India st. featuring drawings by John Dawson and Raul Trejo and the ceramic work of Spring Valley man Ted Saito. The show will continue through September 30.

Ceramist Ted Saito was born in Santa Maria, California and relocated during WW II to Tulare, California and then to Gila Bend, Arizona and finally to Denver. There, he earned his BA at Colorado University where he majored in art with a minor in math.

He now teaches at La Presa Junior High in Spring Valley.

The former sculptor has been working in pottery only since 1963. He feels, however that pottery can be used sculpturally and his work often reflects this. Many of his pieces have incised designs on the surface areas—carved into the clay almost as a woodcutter might carve his woodblocks.

Saito uses only one basin glaze with underglazes and slips and varies his work only by changing the form of a piece. However, even a slight variation of atmospheric conditions—temperature or amount of air—present in the kiln during firing, results in slight changes in the color of this primary glaze.

The work he will exhibit is basically traditional, functional pottery with a few pots that tend toward sculpture and a variety of covered vases, tea pots, and coffee mogs.

KABUKI COSTUMES — Peoples Gallery presents 20 giant reproductions of illustrations taken from a book by Ruth Shaver, "Kabuki Costume", displayed on the malls of the Chula Vista and Mission Valley Shopping Centers. Typical of the colorful posters is the Wakashu yori (young warrior) costume, often worn by 11- or 12-year-old aristocratic generals. It is conspicuous in brilliant red armor, worn over garments of luxurious material, for if they were to die in battle they wanted to give a lasting impression of refinement and dignity. The displays will run through October.

Griffs Edge Long Beach In Season Opener, 8-7

With only 1:18 left in Saturday's season opener at Aztec Bowl, Grossmont College scored its only touchdown of the game on a seven-yard scoring pass from freshman quarterback Joe Roth to sophomore flankerback Larry Olson, to beat Long Beach City College, 8-7.

With a chance to win the game, the Griffins decided to go for the two-point conversion. Again Roth dropped back to pass and hit freshman wide receiver Dave Oliver with the winning two points.

It was the first time in history Grossmont had defeated a Long Beach football team. The last-minute touchdown was the only points the Griffins have registered in three meetings with the Vikings. LBCC won 47-0 in 1964 and 22-0 last year.

Sophomore fullback Frank Woolrich carried 25 times for 117 yards to lead a Griffin ground game that netted only 105 yards. Roth hit 20 of 39 passes for 143 yards and one touchdown. He had one intercepted.

Oliver was the top receiver as he nabbed seven aerials for 38 yards. Woolrich grabbed five passes for 21 yards.

Grossmont rolled up 18 first downs as compared to 10 for Long Beach. The Griffin defense held the Vikings to a mere one first down in the second half.

The Griffins racked up 248 yards total ofense to 221 for Long Beach. The Vikes, however, hit only eight of 26 passes for 128 yards.

Grossmont won't have much time to rest as the Griffins must prepare for Saturday's Mission Conference opener at San Bernardino Valley College.

USD Toreros Seek Season's First Win

A year ago, the Toreros of USD lost its opening game then rebounded to defeat Claremont College.

Coach Andy Vinci, who again suffered the loss of the season's first game when USD lost its game Saturday to Riverside by a 20-16 score, hopes that history will repeat and that the Toreros will hit the winning pathway next game.

That game will be against Claremont Saturday with kick-off scheduled for 1:30.

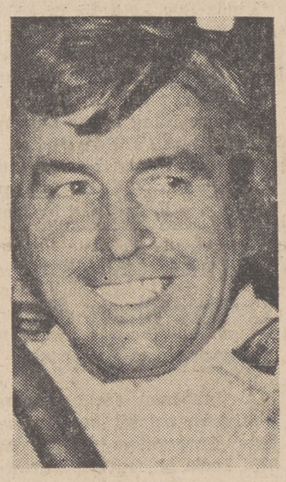
Claremont will be making its first start of the year against USD and the Stags are striving for a rebound year. They won only three of nine games in 1972 after compiling a 15-3 won-lost record over the two previous campaigns including two straight second place finishes in NAIA district ratings.

The Toreros should be opening at near full strength for Saturday's match. No serious injuries were reported during the loss to Riverside, a game that attracted a full house to the USD stadium.

Quarterback Bob Dulich will once again direct Vinci's multiple set offense, handing off to a strong group of runners led by tailbacks Rich Paulson and Sammy Croom.

Hitt Claims Sixth Super Stock Win

Lemon Grove driver Jim Hitt was in the winner's circle at Cajon Speedway last week, as he claimed his sixth super stock victory of the season to keep chase in the championship points race.



HITT

Hitt, in third piace in the points race behind frontrunner Pat McIntyre, of Spring Valley and second place John Dineen of El Cajon, has three races to close the gap. McIntyre leads Hitt by 295 points.

Last week, Hitt started eighth in the 20-car field, moved up to the fourth position after six rounds, then closed in on early leader Wes Osborn. Bucky Peralta, of San Diego, ran into the wall on the 13th lap, and Hitt narrowed an eight-car length gap on the ensuing yellow flag.

"Gentleman Jim", as Hitt is known on the stock car circuit, passed Osborn on the 16th lap and was never threatened after that.

Pat McIntyre held on to his points lead by starting 19th and moving up to seventh place, earning 65 passing points. Dineen held onto second place easily by starting 20th as fastest qualifier and finishing 10th.

All three top drivers are expected to be among over 60 racers starting qualifying Saturday night at 6:30, with the first race at 8 p.m.

"HERE COME THE MUSCLES" seems to be the mood at the "tug-of-war" game held at the Spring Valley Kiwanis Club's annual Kids' Day last year. This year's Kids' Day will be held again on the athletic field of La Presa Junior High School Saturday. Kids from kindergarten through the 6th grade will be admitted to three hours of fun, games and refreshments, free.

Terry Cotton Leads Cross Country Victory

Grossmont College cross country team claimed first place honors at the Long Beach Invitational Saturday at California State—Long Beach.

Sophomore Terry Cotton led the way for the defending California Junior College cross country champions as he took first place, breaking the course record in the process. Cotton, who finished second in the state finals last year, was clocked in 19:46. His effort bettered the old mark of 19:58 set by Glendale's Ernie Perez last year.

Grossmont finished with 30 points to win the large school division. Phoenix City College was second with 47 points and Los Angeles Valley was third at 57. Los Angeles Harbor had 124 and Fullerton 154.

LA Valley's Mike Morden was second with a time of 19:52. Phoenix' Wally Waugh was third at 19:57.

Other Griffin runners included Gary Close, who was fourth at 20:05; Bob Wilson (20:06) was fifth; Mike Breen (20:19) was eighth; John Blair (20:34) was 12th; Mike Mills (20:59) was 18th; George Pullen (21:43) was 33rd; and Dan Cisco (22:10) finished 40th. There were 90 runners in the large school race.

Grossmont will be in action again Sept. 28 when the Griffins open Mission Conference action at Palomar.

Aztecs Booked For Shriner's Charity Game

October 13 has been set as the date for this year's Shrine charity football game and the Aztecs of San Diego State will meet the New Mexico State Aggies for the 8 p.m. kickoff.

The game will be the 29th edition of the Shriner's sponsored event and will be played at the San Diego Stadium.

The Aggies, led by new head coach Lou Henson, compiled a 2-9 record last season. In its initial contest of 1973 New Mexico State defeated Lamar University 24-7.

San Diego State also has a new head coach this season, Claude Gilbert. The Aztecs finished with a 10-1 record last season and ranked among the top 20 collegiate teams nationally.

Al Bahr Shrine Illustrious Potentate W. P. Kemper said pre-game pageantry will commence at 7:15.

Tickets for the game are available at the Al Bahr Mosque, 5440 Kearny Mesa rd., until Oct. 1. After that they may be purchased at San Diego Stadium Gate F or from any Shriner.

In addition to the traditional half-time fireworks display, Shrine game co-chairmen Murdock Kidder and Ray Shukraft said fans also will be entertained by some 33 marching units, 12 bands and Shrine groups during the pre-game pageantry.

The co-chairmen also reminded fans that the real winners of any Shrine-sponsored game are always the children being treated at one of the 22 orthopedic or burn hospitals the fraternal order operates in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

The Game is Over... Let's Say 'Goodbye'

The days of the Padres dwindle down to a precious few—but there are those optimists who believe that the baseball team will be here another year — or longer. Not so John Wirges, the distinguished sports editor of the NORTH SHORES SENTINEL newspaper says.

Wirges views the scene as the Padres schedule calls for only two more home games — a pair with the Dodgers on September 28 and 29 — that will wrap up the season.

It will also wrap up professional baseball in San Diego, he says.

The season closes out with a two-game set with the Dodgers the last weekend of the month.

Then finis. Done. All over. The Padres are no more. Baseball, in San Diego, will be a thing of the past.

"Well, now maybe we'll get a real team," say the saps, talking through the hole in their heads. "Maybe the Giants will come to San Diego."

Such drivel would usually earn the drivelee a free pass to the funny farm, but these are hard times and perhaps those with such dreams are as harmless as they sound.

The truth of the matter is, of course, that when the Padres go, baseball in San Diego dies. There will be no teams "coming down" from San Francisco, Cincinnati or the moon.

"They lost the Rockets," is constantly heard in Houston where the NBA club carpetbagged after a tax tiff between owner Bob Breitbard and San Diego County prompted their sale.

"That San Diego. Wouldn't support the Rockets and wouldn't support the Padres," can be heard snickered from here to there across the Great Divide.

It makes little matter that such is not the case. The Rockets were dispatched in anger, but stood third in the NBA their final year in San Diego with an average attendance in excess of 6,700 per game.

The Padres lack of support comes mostly from their front office and around shortstop and second base.

Padre president and co-owner E. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi is running the business of baseball by violating some of the rules of the game.

For whatever reason — he says it was to make the payroll — he sold Fred Norman to Cincinnati for a player of limited ability and a large wad of cash.

Norman, 1-7 with the Padres, turned the Reds around and headed them into the thick of the National League West's best pennant battle in years.

The Reds came from 11½ games back to grab the Western lead since Norman joined them.

If he's that good, why was he let go?

There are trades and trades, comes the argument. Some you win, some you lose.

True, but the integrity of the game insists that trades are to be made with the view of helping the club. Norman was traded for cash to support what was left of the club.

That is certainly a horse of a different hue. And that is the manner of Padre business this lame-duck season.

The funny part is they're winning. The Padres are deciding the pennant in both divisions. The promise is there, young arm and strong legs, good bats and sure gloves.

And they're off to provide excitement in another city. They're being carpetbagged to Washington, D.C. where losing is a way of life.

And that spells the death knell for baseball in San Diego.

Woe and double woe, even the new location of the Padres works against any interest in refilling San Diego Stadium with baseball.

Washington is just not the right town. The stadium is in the kind of neighborhood where cops ride four in the squad car and it's not safe to be out at night.

In truth, there are four bullet holes through the glass of the front door leading to the stadium offices.

And the Padres, or whatever Joe Danzansky, as new owner, chooses to call them, will suffer from a terminal lack of interest. Washingtonians, even though used to crooks in high and low places, do not have the courage to brave flying bullets to watch baseball games. Few fans do, anywhere.

And Washington is the wrong place for baseball's non-commissioner Bowie Kuhn's master plan.

He wanted the Padres out of San Diego, but he wants them to go to Toronto where the natural competition from Montreal will make the franchise a million-gate certainty.

Baseball businesswise, the move to Canada makes considerable sense. And since non-commissioner Kuhn never had an original thought, the credit must fall elsewhere.

The point is, the next team to move from anywhere to somewhere is going to Canada and find happiness and success. Baseball moguls might have to wait for the Padres to fail in Washington before they can make that move.

That shouldn't take more than two years, unless everybody in Washington suddenly turns honest and law abiding. And you know what chance that has of happening. Why, they get a fresh batch of crooks every election year.

Washington, Toronto, maybe the domed stadium in Seattle or the multimillion dollar beauty in New Orleans will be considered for dissatisfied franchises. But San Diego . . . don't hold your breath. When the Padres go it's all over. No hits, no runs and no more score.

The only chance we have is majority owner C. Arnholt Smith. He loves San Diego and is probably the man most responsible for its growth during the '50s and early '60s.

He's got a fist full of troubles of his own. Most of those who share his affection for this town are hesitant to ask him for more. Maybe there is no more. Perhaps we went to the well once too often.

The fans haven't given up. Attendance is well up considering the quality of the team after Bavasi's business trades. But the hope is there, the future is there. One or two players and a few bucks to pick up a waiver here and there when injuries down a starter might spin the Padres from the cellar into contention.

And if it doesn't happen with what we have, it will never happen. When the Padres go, that's it, friend. Baseball in San Diego is dead.

Monte Vista Looks Sharp In Grossmont Football Carnival

The top two teams in the Grossmont League failed to live up to pre-season predictions last Friday night, as only Monte Vista appeared to be in good shape for the opening of the season, still a couple of games away.

In the first quarter of the eight-team game, Grossmont High looked good against a poor El Cajon Valley team, scoring two touchdowns and giving the East a 14-0 lead.

Grossmont, not expected to be a big threat to Mt. Miguel and Granite Hills this season, had a fine defensive unit, but the competition offered little in the way of a challenge.

The second period unveiled a young but tough Monte Vista team, which blasted El Capitan, 14-0.

Defense was the name of the game for Monte Vista as the quarter opened. A bad snap on a punting play gave El Cap a first down on the Monte Vista 34-yard line. But the Monarch defense stopped El Cap at the 27-yard stripe, and the Monte Vista offense took over.

Ten plays later, Phil Vasquez rambled for 16 yards and a touchdown. The Monte Vista rushing talent was exhibited again later in the period when Casey Mahon churned his way for 56 yards and another six-pointer. Monte Vista held El Cap's total yardage to 14 yards.

Santana proved to be a surprise for Mt. Miguel in the third period, as the Sultans tallied the period's lone touchdown after only eight plays.

Mt. Miguel's offense never had a chance to get started, as penalty flags continually thwarted Mt. Miguel drives.

Later in the period, Mt. Miguel showed a balanced attack to threaten, as quarterback Jess Jenner hit Rocky Lancaster with a 27-yard pass and halfback Tom Gallagher put together runs of 19, 13, and 14 yards, putting Mt. Miguel on the Sultan 18-yard stripe.

But the Santana defense put the skids to the drive by sacking Jenner twice for a total of 10 yards.

In the final period, Helix surprised Granite Hills, a team that is rated only second to Mt. Miguel in the league. Helix fielded a good running attack that included a 71-yard romp by Pat Chevalier to set up the first score of the period. Ron Thornton carried the ball the last four yards for the tally, the latter scored from one yard out to close the scoring.

Granite Hills looked shabby, but Larry Downs, one of the top running backs in the county, lifted spirits somewhat by breaking loose on an 85-yard kickoff return for a touchdown.

The East team of El Cajon, Monte Vista, Mt. Miguel and Helix edged the West side of Grossmont, El Capitan, Santana and Granite Hills, 28-26, giving the East its seventh straight victory.

All eight Grossmont League teams get back into action tomorrow. Mt. Miguel will visit Bonita Vista at 2:30 p.m., while Monte Vista entertains Clairemont at 8 p.m. League action opens October 5.

'Foreign Invaders' Winners On Coliseum Bi-Weekly Card

by Max Goodwin

There was a successful invasion of the San Diego fistic wars by a couple of classy Filipinos Friday night when Ad Zapanta and Dommy Cruz, both from Manila, showed their wares at Mickey Davies' new Coliseum.

They took part in a card which boasted three 10-round fights and which included another foreigner, Renato Garcia, of Santiago, Chile, in the main go. All of the invaders were winners.

In a 10-rounder, Dommy Cruz of Manila, won an unanimous decision from Valente Vera of Tijuana in the opening featherweight fray. Vera carried a two-pound weight advantage at 125 and our scorecard had it even until Cruz floored him for a four count in the ninth round. Vera came back strongly in the 10th round but catch-up is tough in boxing.

Ad Zapanta, 126, another featherweight who is also from Manila, left no doubt as to the winner in his 10-round fight with Joe Valdez, 125, of Tijuana. Valdez was leading on our scorecard when Zapanta zapped him on the jaw with a right at 2:27 into the 8th round and he was unable to continue.

It was a surprise of a sort when junior middleweight Renato Garcia, 154, a 20-year old native of Santiago, Chile, knocked out the excellently-conditioned Marco Gerardo, 155, of San Diego 34 seconds into the ninth round. It was Garcia's 17th win in a row but Gerardo, with his reputation as hard-hitter was favored when the fight started. He suffered a cut over his right eye in the eighth round and became more defensive. Ring physician Dr. William Lundeen examined the cut and told the fighters to continue.

But the Chilean, who looked more like an auditor than a box fighter, had been the aggressor throughout and was well ahead on points when he came out in the ninth and slammed Gerardo with a flurry of right and left hooks and crosses that sent him sprawling. Gerardo had not been KO'd previously.

The fight was attended by 1,084 enthusiastic fans who tossed money in the ring after the first bout.

Next week's card will be a dandy. The main go will be a 10-rounder between featherweights Jorge Ramos of Buenos Aires and "Schoolboy" Bobby Chacon, fifth ranked featherweight from Sylmar. Chacon has lost only one of his 20 professional fights, winning 17 by KO's. The fight may draw another full house.

Tickets are available at 232-8362. Tickets are $3 with reserved seat $6 and ringside $7.50.

Q Tickets on Sale

Season tickets for San Diego Conquistador games are on sale, it was announced by Ans Dilley, public relations director for the hoop team.

The team will play its home games at Golden Hall at San Diego Civic Center in downtown San Diego with the opener against Denver on October 21.

All games will start at 7:30.

Tickets are available at the Civic Theatre box office, Metro-Ticketron Outlets, Sears and Highlander.

Water Polo Team Wins Four Straight

Coach Dave Millovich's Grossmont College water polo team opened the 1973 season with four straight victories as they topped East Los Angeles, 9-5, Friday and then came back to sweep all three weekend tilts against Santa Monica (10-1), Ventura (8-6) and Los Angeles Harbor (via forfeit).

Mike Krattli was the big offensive gun for the Griffins as he scored eight goals in the three actual games. He tallied four against East LA and three against Santa Monica.

Perhaps the toughest contest of the four was against Ventrua. The visiting Pirates led 6-5 after three quarters only to have the Griffs rack up three goals in the final period for the victory.

Aztec's Grid Season Starts Saturday in Utah

Nearly a month of pre-season work will come to a climax Saturday when San Diego State meets Utah State in Logan, Utah.

The game will be aired via KFMB locally with Ron Reina at the mike at 12:30 p.m.

"We're ready to play," coach Claude Gilbert told members of the Sportscasters / Sportswriters Assn. Monday at the group's regular meeting. "We're getting mean and bored at practice seeing the same old faces. Our team has practiced hard and we've covered a lot of ground in preseason, but right now we want to play a game."

The Aztecs will not be drawing an easy foe in Utah State. The Aggies were 9-2 last year and jumped off to a good start this year by stopping Weber State 10-3 before more than 17,000 fans at Ogden last week. It was the largest crowd in Webert State history.

Gilbert and defensive backfield coach Ernie Zampese were in Ogden for the game scouting for the Aztecs. "Utah State's defense was very good," said Gilbert but there were five fumbles and two penalties. Take away the mistakes and the score could have been 31-2 in favor of Utah."

Charger Defensemen to Get Shot at O. J. Simpson Sunday

by Max Goodwin

There is little likelihood that the Chargers Sunday game will be a sellout telecast.

A crowd of about 45,000 is expected when the 1 o'clock kickoff comes against O. J. Simpson and the Buffalo Bills. The San Diego Stadium, where the two teams will meet, seats 54,572. So far, the Chargers have acquired 40,199 season ticket holders which is 14,000 short of capacity.

If the game does sell out it will be telecast on KGTV 10. The game will be aired by KDEO radio and the Charger network.

The Mt. Miguel High school Band will provide a halftime program in an "Operetta of the 50's"—a study in nostaglia uring the Juke Box Dancers featuring the Juke Box Dancers.

The Chargers are fresh from a 38-0 trouncing by the Washington Redskins. Buffalo beat New England Patriots 31-13 last week. Things don't look good for the home team.

O. J. Simpson will be the individual problem Sunday. He has a great field vision and a fast change of pace", said Rick Redman, Charger linebacker. "When he slows down and you think you have him hemmed in, he turns it on and he's around you." He averaged 4.3 yards for 292 carries in 1972. Last Sunday he averaged 8.6 yards for 29 carries including touchdown runs of 80 and 22 yards.

As everyone knows by now. three first quarter fumbles led directly to three Washington touchdowns and the Charger offense died on the line.

Johnny Unitas suffered a 6-of-17, 55-yard day. But the defense was noble. The Redskins averaged only 2.1 yards for 39 attempts. Duane Thomas, the famed former Chargers runner, got 12 for 30. Dave Costa, Deacon Jones and Tim Rossovich were the obstacles.

'That's About It'

Said Coach Svare, "We lost 38-0. That's about it. W hade similar experience last year, and won big the next week. I'm expecting that to happen again."

In addition to being head coach, Svare is gaining a reputation as a dreamer.

Ernie Wright, 14 year veteran offensive tackle was released last week but signed as a weekend pro game scout.

The Cincinnati Bengals follow the Bills in a September 30 game.

Film Forum To Continue September 25

A film forum series titled "Impact on the 70's" cosponsored by Grossmont College's Office of Community Services and the Grossmont Bank, will open at 1 p.m. September 25 at Cinema Grossmont, Grossmont Shopping Center, when the film-documentary "Hospital" is screened.

"Hospital" was made at the Metropolitan Hospital in New York City and although the hospital conditions, as portrayed, are not pretty, the film is not an expose' but rather a close up of what actually goes on in most large hospitals. Produced by Fred Wiseman, the film explores the interaction among patients, hospital personnel and the institution.

Ron Dahlgren, Grossmont Hospital's Chief Administrator will introduce the film and compare it with Grossmont Hospital. Dahlgren is a graduate of the University of California, Los Angeles and in 1971 received the Ross Award presented annually to a graduating student in hospital administration in recognition of outstanding achievement. He is a member of the American College of Hospital Administrators and the University of California, Los Angeles Hospital Administration Alumni Association.

The public is invited to view this award-winning film that reveals the problems of a city in the context of the emergency wards and clinics of a metropolitan hospital with a special interpretation by the chief administrator of a large hospital.

The National Safety Council said 117,000 persons died in accidents last year.

Henry Eckler . . . ". . . be fair to the President"

Being 'Fair' Means Different Things Says Lemon Grove Carpenter

by Max Goodwin

Henry Eckler, a retired carpenter-contractor, of 8435 Mt. Vernon st., Lemon Grove, spent $2 and got a ticket to a fame of some sort.

Eckler is a Republican who had been agonizing over the Watergate hearings and the rough treatment he felt the White House was getting.

When he spied a page advertisement in the downtown newspaper with a headline that invited interested persons "Let's Be Fair to the President". Eckler said that's what he wanted most — a fair deal for the President, so he answered the announcement.

"I felt that a little contribution — such as $2 — and lending my name to the cause would be helpful," Eckler said, "So I sent them my check."

In response he got a letter that explained that the fair thing to do to the President was to impeach him. That wasn't what Eckler had in mind when he took part in the "fairness doctrine".

Then he did what a growing number of people do when they face frustrating situations. He wrote a "Letter to the Editor" of the Evening Tribune. The editor published Eckler's letter on Sept. 11 which read:

'HELP NIXON' SOLICITATION CALLED FALSE ADVERTISING

Editor: In regards Mr. Schaffer of the recent ad in your paper, to me, some friends and neighbors it is a perfect case of false advertising.

Schaffer said some people can't read. Maybe so, but he sure can use words to dupe the public. We thought it was for a good cause listed under Committee of Democratic Education.

Sent in a $2.00 check, then find out its being used to stir up more trouble in our government and not what most people thought the money was to be used for. There's no doubt there has been a lot of small cash sent him in the mail. Who keeps accounting of that?

Mr. Schaffer claims he will use the money to further his advertising throughout the country and dupe more people out of their money.

We think there are enough problems in this country without putting false advertising in the papers, or should I say a misleading one. We are going to write several congressmen of this. It should be stopped.

—HENRY C. ECKLER
Lemon Grove

The letter brought him some crank responses. "One man called me and demanded to know if I had written the letter. Then he hung up. A couple of other calls came from some people who berated me without giving me a chance to say anything — and they hung up on me, too. They were silly and childish," he said.

Eckler contacted the people who placed the advertisement to complain that he had been deceived. The man, Arthur Schaffer, a lawyer who is also a member of the executive committee of the Democratic County Central Committee" said I should have read the ad more carefully." He said that due process would be best provided for the President in an impeachment proceeding, Eckler said.

At least one positive response resulted. A man, Jack E. Addington, saw his "letter" in the newspaper and sent him a card with six lapel buttons which read "Back the President". That's what I was trying to do when I sent in my $2," Eckler said.

"No. it isn't the money. It's the frustration of the thing. Where do you go when you feel that you've been taken in? Maybe the guy gave me the best advice — that I should have read the ad more carefully."

Eckler said he would redouble his effort in behalf of the Republican Party but before I give my support to anyone I'm going to call Mr. Gehres (Les Gehres, the San Diego County Republican Central Committee chairman) before I take part in any political activity."

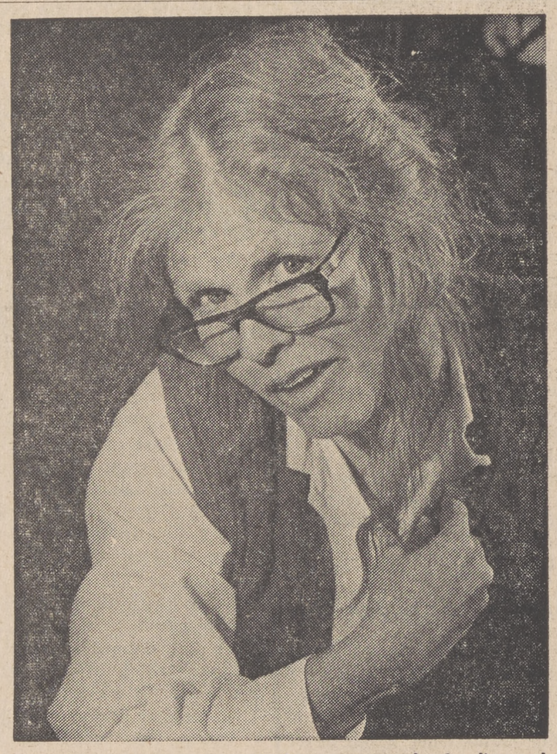
Pan-Am Festival At Grossmont Sept. 21

A Pan-American Music Festival inspired by the Indian, Spanish and Afro Musical Heritage of the New World from ancient times until the present, will be presented by Grossmont College's Office of Community Services when Elizabeth Waldo and her Pan Aerican Ensemble appear in the college's Fine Arts Recital Hall at 8 p.m. September 21.

Miss Walso, violin virtuoso, composer, recording artist and lecturer, is considered one of the foremost interpreters of the sounds and music of the Americas, both ancient and modern. Her compositions have been featured over National Education Television (NET) and in the special Pre-Cortezian musical sequences for the Wolper Production film made for CBS television titled "Cortez and Montezuma."

An accomplished violinist after attending high school in Seatttle, Miss Waldo won a scholarship at the Curtis Institute of music in Philadelphia where she was chosen by Leopold Stokowski as one of the leading violinists of the All-American Youth Orchestra which toured the United States and South America.

After a season as a member of the first violin section of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, she embarked on her own solo tours of leading Central and South American capitols. This culminated in a concert tour of the United States as featured soloist with Xavier Cugat and his orchestra.



OPENS TUESDAY — Anne Archer portrays the leading role of spinster school teacher who drinks more than a little in the comedy-drama "And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little," opening the 37th season of the Old Globe Theatre at the Carter Centre Stage, Balboa Park, September 25 through October 28, nightly except Monday.

'And Miss Reardon Drinks' Is Cassius Carter Stage Production

The newest drama by a Pulitzer Prize winning playwright will open the Old Globe Theatre's thirty-seventh season on September 25.

"And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little" will be directed by producing director Craig Noel and performed at the Carter Centre Stage in Balboa Park.

The Old Globe Theatre is presenting the first San Diego production of "And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little." The five week run, continuing through October 28, will be performed nightly except Monday at 8 p.m. Two Sunday matinees on October 7 and 21 will begin at 2 p.m.

Scenery and lighting for "And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little" was designed by Steven T. Howell with Brigitte Sitte as costume designer.

Flora Richards and Anne Archer portray two spinster school teachers living in the New York apartment they long occupied with their recently deceased mother. Helen Marquardt portrays the married sister. As a superintendent of schools, she is embarrassed by the behavior of her sisters, one on the brink of mental collapse and the other who drinks more than a little.

A visiting school teacher, living in the same building, will be played by Trina Bruce, with her off-stage husband, William Bruce, portraying her on-stage spouse. Others in the cast include Serena Pratt as a friendly apartment manager and Randy Herman as a delivery boy.

The continuous action of "And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little" develops after the older married sister arrives for a family meal with her sisters. She is determined to have her younger sister committed to a mental hospital but is opposed by her other sister, reluctant to admit the necessity of action.

Emotionally bound to each other, each sister is forced to struggle against private torments as their anguished lives are revealed.

SNOWED UNDER — Demonstrating the new computerized welfare record system is Kay Maguire, of 8312 Stansbury, Spring Valley. Connected to computers at the San Diego County Administration Center, the terminals in the district office resembles small black and white TV sets with keyboards in front. The new system produces needed information in seconds, cutting staff time and reducing costs.

New Computer System to Aid SD County Welfare Department

With 425,000 welfare cases on file in San Diego County and 400 added daily, social workers for years waited more than an hour for clerks to locate a case. They now can find it in seconds.

The Welfare Department of San Diego County has turned to computers to meet the more thtn 6,000 daily needs for pertinent information.

One of several computer systems now in operation within San Diego County government, the new computer based system utilizes cathode ray tubes. It will eventually connect all district welfare offices to the computers at the County Administration Center, according to Al Nichols, director of Electronic Data Processing Services for the County.

"The fiscal Welfare Office in National City is presently the only one connected to the system, but soon the remaining seven district offices will also have direct access to the files," he said.

The new system will also enable such departments as Probation and Revenue and Recovery to index data by name and case number, he said. It will also provide a convenient way to keep the index current.

"The primary value of this system is its immediate response to questions such as 'Is this person receiving welfare', 'What type of aid is being received', 'Who is the social worker', and 'Are there any other members of the family receiving aid'," Nichols said.

Previously access to this information was only available through the central record room. All new applicants for aid had to be cleared before a case could be opened.

"With the direct access feature of the new system, the district offices will be more efficient and responsive to applicants, as well as saving a considerable number of manhours," Nichols said.

This computer system will also enable other county departments to obtain public records stored on the computers, he said. It will also show if a person's name appears in more than one file.

"The ultimate goal for this program is the sharing of essential data among County agencies which need such information," Nichols said. "This system will also reduce costs and improve service to welfare recipients."

Retired Railroad Man Wants More RR Aid

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hall, of 2139 Glencoe dr., Lemon Grove, who have lived in this area for 15 years after Hall retired from the Illinois Central Railroad, are involved in a campaign to help save the country's railroads.

Hall, 82, started in the railroad business in 1908, joining the Santa Fe 'Road as telegraph operator. He also worked for the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, and Chicago Great Western Lines before hooking up with the Illinois Central in 1922 until his retirement in 1956.

With the Illinois Central, Hall was a passenger and freight agent, manning stations, selling tickets, handling freight, and coordinating trains.

Hall, who likes to spend time in his garden, growing oranges, grapefruit, tomatoes, apples, peaches, grapes and limes, is concerned with the plight of today's rail systems.

The problem, he said, is that the government is not backing railroads the way it should, although it is doing things for the trucking industry, such as building new and better highways.

What is keeping the railroads from supplying the services needed by this country, Hall maintains, is that obsolescense has set in on the railroads, who need low interest loans, fair taxation, help for grade crossing seperations and greater freedom to adjust rates.

Hall said that it would be a good idea for the government to put mail cars back on the rails, as trains are capable of better service than trucks. Hall claims that the railways could be the best method for moving materials across the country.

He said that the lines in the west and south are in good shape, including the Illinois Central, but the problem lies mainly in the east and north, where such lines as the Penn Central are in very poor financial shape.

And that's what is crippling rail transportation, he said. When other lines send cars into the east and north, they may never see the cars again. Other lines are now wary about sending their cars east.

Hall said that there are many former railroad employees, who like himself, spent over half their lifetime working on the railroads, and most of them are trying to get the government to pay attention to the plight of today's 'roads.

DOT Fleet Will Now Use Steel Radials

The State Department of Transportation will start using steel-belted radial tires on most of its vehicles as a result of a study just completed.

Deputy Director John F. Maloney said the study showed that significant savings will result from using the steel-belted radials even though the initial cost is greater than that of the standard tires now purchased for departmental vehicles. However, he added, an even more vital dividend resulting from use of the steel-belted radials would be a reduction in rubber dust pollution of about eight tons a year. There has been a growing concern that rubber dust from motor vehicle tires constributes significantly to air pollution.

The study showed that while the life of an average state contract tire now being used was 20,000 miles, steel-belted radials are projected to 67,000 miles. The average life for fabric-belted, also tested, was 35,000 miles.

Maloney said that the cost per mile of steel-belted radials was only 87 percent of that for standard tires in the study. This figure is based on savings in tire wear and reduced number of tire changes.

Although further tests will be conducted on fuel economy resulting from using steel-belted radials, test reports from industry sources to date indicate that a significant overall savings of gasoline is possible for the Department of Transportation fleet.

Maloney said that ten makes of tires were used in the study, which started over a year ago.

Conquistadors Book Two Games In Tijuana

TIJUANA — The San Diego Conquistadors will play two exhibition games in Tijuana at the Municipal Arena on Sept. 22 and Oct. 5.

The games are sponsored by the State Sports Committee (Patrona Pro Deportes del Estado) to raise funds to repair the 5,000 seat Auditorio Municipal de Tijuana — the building in which the two games will be played.

The renovation is needed for the upcoming world volleyball championships to be held there next year.

Games will start at 8:30. The game this week will be against a team of American-Mexican All stars.

The Oct. 5 game will be against a team of former NBA and ANA players.

The Municipal Arena is on Revolucion blvd. a half mile beyond the new Royal Inn hotel. Headquarters will be at that hotel.

Rummage Sale Slated

The Encanto VFW Aux. No. 6874 will have a rummage sale Sept. 17 and 18 from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the Post Home, 5860 Market st. Proceeds will go towards charitable programs for the year.

School Food OK, DA Says

D.A. standards. To increase the protein factor, your food purchasing agent could solicit bids from suppliers on the basis of specifications that he submits to them. For example, it could be required that the product be made only from good or choice beef. Another possibility is to purchase and use regular ground beef.

"I appreciate that my suggestions will increase the cost of the meals served. However, since better quality does cost more, you might consider raising the cost of school lunches. In the alternative, you might review the present policy of maintaing large cash reserves in the Cafeteria Fund. Although such reserves are proper under the guidelines of the Department of Education, Bureau of Food Service, it would perhaps be more productive to use these cash reserves to improve the quality of the cafeteria food.

"In the final analysis, you must determine the nutritional adequacy of the meals served within your District based on a balancing of cost and quality."

Additionally, Miller sent letters to two Los Angeles firms — Convenience Foods, Inc., 3055 East 44th Street, and Urban N. Patman, Inc., 2638 East Vernon avenue — which have provided food products to the Grossmont District.

In those letters, Miller stated: "As a result of that investigation, some significant facts were disclosed. First, the beef patties contained only 17 per cent protein versus approximately 25 per cent in regular ground beef. That, in and of itself, does not concern this office. However, in certain brochures used by your company, you claim a protein factor that is misleading since protein can only be expressed in terms of a per cent or in grams and not as you have stated. Your specifications are confusing in that they appear to offer more protein than is actually contained in the product. At this time this office does not plan to pursue the available legal remedies under Business and Professions Codes 17500 if you will voluntarily correct your specifications so that the protein content is accurately stated."
